“Contemporary Challenges in IPR”
(26, April 2017)

On 26th April, 2017, the IPR Cell of the University has organised a Seminar on “Contemporary Challenges in IPR”. Since IPR plays a key role in almost every sector and has become a crucial factor for investment decisions by many companies.

In the seminar Academia & Industry got together to discuss the problems and opportunities for overall with respect to patent and law. Whole event guided by the Prof. (Dr.) R. K. Sharma, Chairperson of the IPR Cell, and the event was coordinated by Member secretary Mr. Prashant Kumar Srivastava, Assistant Professor (Law). The event started with the welcome address of Prof. (Dr.) R. K. Sharma. He explained the rationale and aim of the seminar. He was introduced all the title and speaker of the lecture. Many faculty members, Researchers and 86 students and three speakers were presented in the seminar. The students were actively joined and involved in the question answer session of the every session. This conference was focused on various issues of the IPR.

There were following five speakers in the seminar.

1. Mr. Manjul Kumar (Sr. Advocate, Supreme Court)
2. Prof. (Dr.) Diwan Chand (Principal, SMD College, Bhatinda)
3. Ms. Sakshee (MD, Radha Industries International)

Mr. Manjul Kumar (Sr. Advocate, Supreme Court) shared his experience with participants under the title “The Role of World Trade Organization (WTO), in IPR”. He has thrown light that WTO sets down minimum standards for many forms of intellectual property (IP) regulations as applied to the nationals of other WTO Members.

The second speaker was Prof. (Dr.) Diwan Chand (Principal, SMD College, Bhatinda) conveyed a lecture on “Development and Analysis of Intellectual Property Rights Using Emerging Technologies in the Digital Age”. He explained the Importance of IPR laws and measures of the development at national and international level.

Ms. Sakshee, was third speaker, she given details Indian Patent Laws. She focused on FICCI's efforts emphasize the enhancing of the working of the Indian Patent Office, thereby, bringing greater transparency in its working, and facilitating the Government in developing a policy for India.

During the special session “Interaction with students” were coordinated by Prof. (Dr.) Anjani Kumar Jha, Dr. Renu Sharma, Ms. Savita Verma, Prof. Dr. Sandeep Tripathi, (NIET), Dr. Sunil Kumar Pandey, (Deptt. of Physics), Prof. (Dr.) Milind Pandey, (Institute of Pharmacy) and Dr. Nishi Fatma (humanities). Relevant queries were arised from the side of students and faculty delegates. They got justified answers from the speakers. The interactions were very relevant and meaningful. Participants would be benefitted with this event.

In key note, Member Secretary of IPR Cell, Mr. Prashant Kumar Srivastava observed that, though the IPR regime in India consists of healthy IP laws but it lacks effective enforcement, for which “least priority given to adjudication of IP matters” is often quoted as a reason. The key challenge is to sensitize the enforcement officials and the Judiciary to take up IP matters, at par with other economic offences, by bringing them under their policy radar. Further, it is imperative that there be established a ‘Think Tank’ or a group, which can bring the varied sets of stakeholders on to a common platform, leading to extensive/exhaustive and an all inclusive debate/discussion, facilitating well-informed policy decisions in accordance with India’s socio-economic-political needs. The challenges also lie in having an IP fund, which can be utilized for further developing the IP culture in the country. There is also the need to have a National IP Policy for India, which will help in working towards realizing the vision of India in the realm of IP. This will facilitate the creation of a strong socio-economic foundation and deep international trust.

The chief guest Dr. K.P. Singh, Registrar, Nims University and Guest of Honour, Prof. Dr. N. S. Kothari, Pro-Vice Chancellor, Nims University were invited in the valedictory session. Dr. Sharma summarized and concluded the session followed by the introduction of the speakers. Dr.. K.P. Singh and Prof. Dr. N. S. Kothari were felicitated to speakers through presented “Plaque of Appreciation” (Memento) to each speaker and delivered the vote of thanks.

Finally, the seminar was very fruitful and relevant for the students, researchers and faculty, and ended with the thanks to chair.
